Hello all, spring is officially here and everyone is beginning to think of fun summer activities to do with family and friends. I want to encourage everyone to please keep safety in mind when prepping for and executing your plans for the warm season. JCU has invested a lot of time in training our service members to be successful on the battle field and we (service members) need to invest time in our families in order to be successful there as well.

Spring and summer are the times to think of those special family events that will build memories and bring you and your family closer together. Husbands do not forget that you need to spend some quality alone time with your wife, (no work related thoughts or conversation) just the two of you spending time like you just met. Wives remember that the service member has been under a lot of pressure to NEVER fail; maybe he could use an attaboy from his best friend (you).

The point I am trying to get across is that our families are important, take care of the home front. JCU is your extended family and we should look upon our JCU brothers and sisters as just that, family. If you see anyone who needs help, a friend or just someone to talk with or hang with, let's take care and support them. Even if that just means giving them a good swift kick in the 4th point of contact, or a little cross fit training.

When you look back at your time in JCU many years from now, you will see that JCU was the best group of friends and family that you had the opportunity to serve with. Savor this time, make some great memories and watch each others back both on and off duty. Include your immediate family with your extended JCU family, no one in JCU active duty or other wise should ever feel alone or isolated, we are all on this ride together.

P.S.

Spouses please contact 1SG Todd Spencer if you have any old photos of your loved one that would be great for the "Retro Photo"

INAUGURAL DRAGON SLAYER RUN

On April 25-28 Jim Jones, Ulysses Otero, Jay Pylman, John Mills and Del Walker mounted their steel steeds and headed west. They set out to tame the dragon at Deals Gap, NC. The Dragon is 318 turns in a 11 mile stretch of road. The trip started here at home. Their 1100 mile round trip consisted of 600 miles worth of rain. The trip also took them on the Blue Ridge Parkway after that Jim and OT set out for the "Thunder in the Valley" Rally in Cherokee, NC. In their search for vendors, their senses were overloaded and quickly returned to the camp leaving their $70 entry fee behind. Sunday found them heading for the tail trying to beat the rain... they failed miserably. They did the tail in a torrential downpour then ventured over to the Cherohala Skyway. After that, they were forced to take a break so OT could buy new, dry jeans and Jay could buy new boots. After all of this, the weather cleared and they returned to the Dragon for two more runs.

~ Jay & Millsy

Hello, April was a busy month here in A-Troop! While we also have something going on, there were more moving parts than usual this month.

The month of April saw the return of Adam Merlino, Angelo Caraballo, and Daniel Lane while we sent Ryan Dayton and the Joe's (Quigley and Worley) down range for their first taste of what DOD's Finest does on a daily basis while deployed. Anthony Melby is currently at Fort Benning to find out what "Jumpers, Hit it!" means while Lauront Pepin finally closes in on his graduation date for the Advanced Network Analyst course. I would also like to take a monument to thank Pablo Guerra and Billy Sumner for their years of service to A-Troop as they start their new assignments in AVTEG and C-Troop respectively; Good luck in your new endeavors guys!

On a professional schools note, Larry

Deardorff graduated the Airman Leadership School and Jay Baker distinguished himself during the Advanced Non-Commissioned Officer Course through his selection as the Distinguished Honor Graduate. This appears to have become sort of a requirement for ANCOC attendees in the 25S career field lately it seems, with Jim Prasse and Jay Baker taking the title during the last two classes. I'll see if I can make it three in a row as I depart for ANCOC this Sunday. And although Jeremy Jenkins is currently attending the Basic Non-Commissioned Officers Course at Fort Gordon, Georgia he was able to find the time to return last weekend to help A-Troop pitch a shut out to B-Troop during the latest installment of the Det Bowl, but with so much smack talking to write about I'll save that news for the column in this edition specifically set aside for the Det Bowl.

Congratulations are in order for Anthony Melby, Rick Cross, Adam Merlino and Chris Martin for their selection as the NCO's or SNCO of the Quarter for their respective services. When you are competing against the best that the four services have to offer on a daily basis, this is quite an accomplishment.

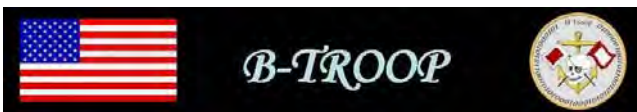

And finally, as I am writing this I can picture James Jordahl sweating bullets as he struggles to memorize his wedding vows in time for the big day out in Colorado. A-Troop welcomes the edition of Mrs. Yeti (the former Michelle Stilson) to the unit's family. I know that I speak for all of A-Troop when I say that we are glad that the duty of "Yeti Tracking" will no longer fall solely on us...

See you in June,

~ Jared

The extreme focus of A-Troops defense as exhibited by Rick Cross

Let me start off by saying congratulations to Troy Zimmerman and Justin Zendrosky for graduating the Basic Airborne Course. This will be the last news letter input for B-Troop from me. I would like to say thank you to each family member for supporting your loved one in this command. From my family to yours; it has been our honor to serve with the best that our military has to offer. -Mike

Troy Zimmermann couldn't do anything but give a thumbs-up to B-Troops big goose-egg. Plus, he dared me to post it

YETI "ON RAPPEL" James Jordahl goes over the edge while at a recent exercise. While Yeti's have always been known to be natural climbers, apparently rappelling is another story

I send my sincerest gratitude to all moms on Mother's Day. Thank you for raising strong boys for C-Troop and seeing that our children are in the best hands as we continue to deploy.

I'll start by welcoming Billy Sumner into "the light" from A Troop. If you're looking for the way-ahead, follow Mike Clark. He deployed briefly to a new type of platform establishing communications in a most challenging environment confirming us as DoD's finest. Mike Kontio just completed a communications school, hopefully they were able to teach him something we could not. Welcome home Jamie, outstanding job forward.

Congratulations are in order for Marlin & Amy Waldron, the "Fish" got hooked. Congratulations as well are in order to Max and Heather Fermin, they are the proud parents of Maxwell and Marcus born on April 2, 2008. Also, Ramsey and Karen Brown, they are the proud parents of Morgan Mae born on April 16, 2008. Thanks to Jacob Carlsen for doing your part for the organization and its quest for more sailors by assisting with a unit recruiting trip in San Diego, CA.

C-Troop has made a transition to three teams affecting the way we schedule deployments and rest cycles. The longer we stay with it, the more predictable deployments and training will become.

Lastly, I'd like to apologize for breaking the OPSO who at least had the fortitude to show up for a C-Troop PT session.

~ Chad Peters

Hi again from D Troop. I hope that everyone is doing great. I would ask if you're enjoying spring but we keep skipping from winter to summer then back to Winter, and so on. I think you all know what I mean. Well, it has been so busy this month that I had to shut my door and take my phone off the hook in order to get this information typed up; and I was still late!

First, I would like to invite all of the D Troop families to join us for a D Troop supper at the Olive Garden on May 9th at 7p.m. Our last event was a blast and it's a great chance for our families to get to know each other better. Please RSVP through your spouses or contact Todd Petzel and he will take care of you. It's also a great chance for the spouses to find out what really goes on at work. I'm kidding; we have nothing but professionals around here.

Now on to the important stuff; hold on while I crack my knuckles...Maj H continued his deployment overseas, I'm not sure we'll recognize him when he gets back. Ameer and Jeff are doing fantastic things on their deployments, they are making us proud. Smitty graduated his Air Force NCO Academy; he says he loved it so much he would do it all over again. Ha! Seriously, good job Smitty. Jerry finally returned from his long deployment, first things first though he hopped on to another airplane and did a static-line jump. We are happy to have him back; as I'm sure his family is as well. We actually managed to drag Daren back (though there are probably still some claw marks on the plane) from his extended trip away from home. Welcome back Daren! Osh got a free trip to Hawaii. Can you believe that? And we were able to pass it off as work, it's a shame. I'm kidding! He got back from that trip and marched his happy butt off to

Army Airborne School. We're looking forward to his graduation next week. Go Airborne! Adam and Penny are away this week on a quick trip overseas (another free trip) however Adam will get back only to head right back out to a fiber optic school. Rob and Jesse are gone this week to a Configuration Management school. I'm betting that they will teach the instructors a thing or two. One note though, I can't remember the last time that office was sooooo quiet (ha ha). And lastly but definitely not least, Roger had to leave on a last minute trip to fix some of our equipment. Way to take one for the team Roger! Whew, okay my fingers are smoked. I think I need to look into getting a robot to type all of this up for me. We also have several huge projects going on within the Troop. What an amazing thing it is to see these projects come together. From testing and evaluation, logistics, vehicle maintenance, troubleshooting and repair; it is apparent that we have a level of expertise that cannot be found anywhere else in the world! Thanks everyone...until next time! ~ Carleen

We would like to welcome Oarsman #2 and Oarsman #3 (formerly known as Gama Rodriguez and Bryan Fooshee) to the team. They both completed the CNO course and are taking their positions on the oars. We would also like to welcome Scott Capan to the team as he starts working to obtain the coveted title of "Oarsman". This month had the Ranger/Marine team switching positions with Sergio Hernandez returning from rotation, and Adrian Williams replacing him for his turn on rotation. Jason Proskovec returned home to find out that Tony Gillespie decided against trashing his apartment while he was away at ANCOC. Don't know if Tony knows how wise a decision that was since Jason tends to go overboard on the practical jokes. Sam Stanley recently purchased a new shampoo that is "volumizing"; He says it takes him twice as long to comb his hair now. Scott Bachand is away at Fort Benning attending the "Advanced Airborne Course", apparently in the "Advanced" course you get to ride back from Friar DZ on short buses. Mike Martinez is doing some training with his Navy brethren; we hope he is doing ok since his floaties are still on top of his desk. ~ Jason

G-Troop has had another busy month as usual. Work, work, and more work but stuff is getting done so we are accomplishing the goal.

DJ Holly and Heidi Evans graduated the classroom SERE. Jon "Squirrel" Vasquez is coming home next week and Chris Richter is heading out to replace him for about a month. Jim Guillemette made it home safely and is back at work in JTEP.

Bob Coccaro has returned from convalescent leave after having shoulder surgery but he will not be multi tasking just yet. He is still recovering and has his arm in a sling but we are happy to have him back.

G-Troop now officially has a Troop SGM. We were given SMSgt Morris by the Gracious All Mighty members of the slating board/GOB. Word on the street is that SMSgt Morris will be promoted to E9 in the near future so congratulations to him.

I am giving a shout out to C-Troop. They are providing a person to come work SYSCON for a month and we are very appreciative of them.

Thanks again to all the families and members of the unit who have been patient with our schedules and forming together this new troop. We are almost there!!!!

~ Brooke

SELECTION & TRAINING

This month in Selection and Training it is business as usual. We would like to welcome Steve Alexander coming over from B-Troop. SOROC class number 01-08 got to display some of the skill that they learned so far with their 3rd communications exercise. They also conducted their mid-course PT test, along with 8 mile ruck march. Congratulations to PO2 Jessie Trejo for reenlisting for 4 more years in the Navy. The airborne qualified SOROC students got to jump with the unit for an airborne operation on April 22nd. PO2 Pond and SRA Epps had to overcome first time jitters all over again as the ramp opened for their first jump out of Basic Airborne School. As a class they will be helping out the Fayetteville community by contributing to Habitat for Humanity on the 17th.

DET BOWL VII

So where do I begin? Since zero is the first number and also the score turned in by B-Troop during last Saturday's Det Bowl, it seems only fitting that I start there. That's right folks, the normally potent B-Troop offense was held to zero, zilch, nada, by the stingy, swarming A-Troop defensive unit. (I told you that there would be smack talking)

When reviewing the score of 42-0 (ouch!) one would be inclined to ask if B-Troop had their usual talent of Mike Crain, Steve Alexander, John Iwaniec, Cliff Varnadoe and Nicolas Walker-Bates present during this shellacking or did these guys conveniently get sent TDY just prior to the game? But unfortunately for the Fab Five, they were indeed present Saturday. There is one upside however, the fact that the score could have been 49-0 if A-Troop had not decided to go for a field goal and thrown the ball to Jay Baker for his 5th touchdown of the game instead. And now for a quick review of the game from a possibly biased source. B-Troop seemed to be off to their typical quick start as they received the opening kick off and started marching down the field with their patented quick strike offense when an errant pass from Cliff Varnadoe was intercepted by Jay Baker. Not just content to regain possession of the ball, Jay returned the ball over 90 yards to make the score 7-0. The next 30 or 40 minutes was kind of a blur as A-Troop embarked upon a scoring rampage. Jay caught three more passes, sprinting to the end zone each time, and also found time to lay a sweet block that allowed me to hang seven more points on B-Troop. Roy Campbell put the final nail in the coffin on a deep route to the corner of the end zone.

The defensive side of the game was controlled by a relentless pass rush of James Jordahl, Rick Cross, Jeremy Jenkins and Joe Kelly, not to mention the shut down coverage of "Nasty" Nate Hannah, Roy Campbell, Lauront Pepin and Jay. B-Troop tried valiantly to employ the same tactic, but the agile feet of Anthony Melby not only kept almost every play alive, but also gained several chunks of huge yardage. And of course, all of this was orchestrated by our collegiate experienced coach, Auggie Marks. In the end, the only thing more dazzling than A-Troop's game play was our new jersey!

Now that I think about it, there were actually two upsides to Saturday's game; the fact that many of the player's families were in attendance as well. It was great opportunity to sit down after the game with our friends and family and enjoy a Pot Luck BBQ. The members of A and B -Troop would like to thank everyone that was able to attend and took the time to prepare a dish for the event. We would also like to thank Ken Vaillancourt who set up the whole deal by reserving the field at Lake Rim Park. Even though your team got trashed Ken, the park did not, so you should see that security deposit you put down returned to you. Get well soon buddy, your team apparently needs you.

SOCA SCHOLARSHIP ESSAY ANNOUNCEMENT

As mentioned in last month's newsletter, the Special Operations Communicators Association (SOCA) is offering two college scholarships, valued at $500 each, to a deserving spouse and a deserving college-aged child dependent of a current JCU Military or GS Unit Member. Applicants must submit a 1-2 page essay from the below listed topics to SOCA's Board of Officers at the SOCASCHOLARSHIP@yahoo.com email address. SOCA's Board of officers will select from all of the qualified entries to award the two $500 scholarships-on e per each category. Entries must be received by July 15th, 2008. The winners will be announced in the July Edition of Delivering the Message. Upon selection of the winner of each category, we will work out a plan to make payment to your college's administration office in your name. It is SOCA's goal to show their appreciation to those who contribute and sacrifice so much in support of our Country's National Objectives. SOCA thanks the members of JCU and your families for all that you do.

The JCU coin is issued to all JCU members free when they join the JCU Activities Club for their first time. This recently redesigned coin features a Nickel-Proof finish and color has been added for a more professional look. The coin front has not been drastically changed and still boasts our unit crest. The coin back has been completely overhauled and features the American Eagle with the United States flag draped over its chest, symbolic of the American spirit. The eagle sits atop and surrounds the globe with its wings, representing our ability to provide worldwide communications. The eagle grasps four lightning bolts in its talons, each of which represents the four services that make up our great unit. The top quote "DoD's Finest Communicators" is the motto given to us a long time ago and is proudly displayed. The banner at the bottom holds the date that JCU was established and started its historic heritage. The coin is also presented from the Commander for a job well done to outside units and agencies around the globe.

ANSWER TO LAST MONTHS RETRO JCU ? (DID YOU GUESS CORRECTLY?)

In 2000, there was absolutely no way that DJ Holly, USS OLYMPIA (SSN 717) Sailor of the Year, could have known that he would end up in Fayetteville, the testosterone capitol of the world. This submariner of 15 years traded in his Navy Blues to work as the BCA Network Engineer at COMSUBPAC in Pearl Harbor before finding his place on the JCU Unit Support Team as the AIS OIC. When he's not on the JNCC Floor handling your support calls he can be found in the troop bay working on his Iron Cross, or getting ready for the next Det Bowl. Thanks DJ, for sharing a part of your history with us.

THE JCU PRINT
COMMEMORATING 25 YEARS OF JCU
PROFESSIONALS

Damon Haigh was commissioned to create an original JCU Print designed to celebrate the outstanding contributions that JCU members have made since its inception. Everyone who has seen the print agrees that Damon did an incredible job. This print makes a great gift for current and past unit members. In order to get your limited edition (500 signed/numbered) JCU Print, bring cash or check (payable to the JCU Activities Club) to the SGM while supplies last. The print costs $50 and if you want a shipping tube please include an additional $3. If you need the print to be mailed, include a shipping cost of $10 (includes shipping tube).
